

Sheila McCord
March 5, 2010
A-Block

Chapter 59

As Crispin and Bear left Greater Wexly they felt the most absolute sense of relief you can image. The reflected on all that they had been through. Their greatest hope was that the Widow Daventry would not be harmed after they left.

Crispin said, "Where should we go now?" Bear responded with a heartfelt laugh. "North. Towards Scotland."

Your story should be three typed paged double-spaced.

Times New Roman 12 pt.

Indent five space at the beginning of each chapter. Be sure that your chapter has a setting, plot, characters and a climax.

Completed stories are due Wed., March 10. Don't forget to bring your books. We will be returning to the book room.