

Final Project Choices for Creative Writing Semester I/2009-2010

You have the choice of four projects. Decide which project you would like to do. You must inform me by Wed. Jan. 13, 2010 of your final choice. All projects are due by the end of class on Fri. Jan. 22, 2010. Exam time on Tues., Jan. 19 may be used to work on your project.

1. Poetry Project - Choose a theme which includes art work, music or any other form of art and create three poems. Write a short explanation about how your poetry collection relates to you theme and the work(s) that have inspired them. Your project must also include pictures, music, etc. used for inspiration.

2. Short Story Project - If you loved writing a short story in class this semester, this is your opportunity to write another. The requirements are the same as the class assignment. Please see the wiki for specific information. You must turn in two drafts. I am happy to give feedback for the final draft. Please give me at least one day to look at the draft.

3. Comic Book Project - Do you love comic life? If you do, you have the opportunity to create a story through comic life. You must turn in a storyboard for your story. I will provide this form for you. Your comic book must be a minimum of five comic life pages with a minimum of six squares per page.

4. Essay Project - Are essays your favorite? Want more practice writing? You may write a descriptive or narrative essay following the guidelines on the wiki. You must turn in two drafts. I am happy to help with the first draft. Please give me at least one day to look at your work.

You will be given some class time to work on projects.

Good Luck!
