

Hands Can...

by Ms. McCord's Second Semester Creative Writing Class squeeze so hard before saying farewell that they become bloody - Chanel Kim allow us to drink clean fresh cold water - Christina Kim turn hot melted chocolate into an ornament to give to a loved one for Valentine's Day - Christine (JY) Kim

block out the bright and shining sun from your eyes - Sarah Kim smack on the table so hard that it will make people so scared that they will never speak to you again - Rachel Kim

create a heartfelt welcome in just one handshake - Sooyoon Kim swing slap another's face leaving a red mark - Eric Lee play a graceful melody on a grand piano that fades slowly, slowly further away - Michelle Lee splish and splash together to create something even grander - Andrew Lee lead and guide us through life - Angela Kwon gently cover your face when tears roll down your cheeks preventing others from seeing your sadness - Christine HJ Kim

put your warm cuddly boots on your feet on a cold winter's day - Sophia Yu grab a breathtaking novel that was just released from your favorite author - Annie Namkoong crawl and dart rapidly like a spider over a keyboard - Allison Choi type so quickly it's hard to see them - Justin Park show the pure serenity that words fail to - Fiona Chu scoop up a handful of water to splash against your face so that the hands turn white with purple veins - Michelle Lee

turn a page in a book and lead you on the next great adventure - Kelly Cho write a story about a life full of adventures that you wish you could go on - Eunice Ghil