
"Appearances are often deceiving."

Aesop
Greek slave-storyteller

IDEAS FOR WRITING

Is the bottle in this photo a giant bottle placed on a street to advertise a product? Or is it a replica placed in a miniature setting with other models?

Actually, it is neither. Though it does advertise Coke, it is really a semi-glass building in Las Vegas that formerly housed the World of Coca-Cola museum, now closed.

- When have you found appearances to be deceiving? Describe an incident.
- Write a fable with the moral, "Appearances are often deceiving."
- Write a story in which you find yourself surrounded by objects and buildings that are much larger than they normally are.