Journal Entry-4

- * Close your eyes briefly. Think of one object that's in the room and focus on it without opening your eyes, recall as much detail as you can about it. After three minutes or so, open your eyes and write about that object without looking at it. (This exercise was done in class and timed.)

Journal Entry-5

- * Silly is a middle-aged man who combs his remaining limp strands of hair into an elaborate swirl over his bald spot, gluing them in place with hair spray and hoping no one will notice.
- * Silly is a golden retriever who slinks sheepishly off the sofa whenever his owner comes home, hoping-despite the piles of hair all over the cushion that she won't notice he's been sleeping there.
- * What else is silly?
- * Give three more examples.

Journal Entry-6

- * Choose one from the following list for today's prompt.
- * Describe your bedroom the way you want it to be.
- * Describe a storm. This could be a thunderstorm, a snow storm, a hurricane, a tornado, a hail storm, a rain storm, or any type of storm.
